COUNTY SUPERVISORS STILL MARKETING SPRINGVILLE HOSPITAL

maintenance man Ted MacLean recently inspected the hospital grounds, including administration building, patient facilities, and out-patient clinic-x-ray lab. Bottom row: the Winn Memorial building houses much of the rehabilitation equipment remaining at the hospital. Complete dental and surgical facilities are still in the main hospital building. Nurses and doctors' housing, not shown, are in good shape and are still fully-furnished. (Farm Tribune photos)

JOB CORPS SEEKING CONTRACT FOR SPRINGVILLE HOSPITAL

SPRINGVILLE - Representatives of Valley Development, a Fresno-based private corporation, are meeting this week with Department of Labor officials in Washington, D.C. to discuss establishment of a Job Corps training center in the San Joaquin valley - with Springville hospital as one of several proposed sites.

Bob Scott, administrative analyst for Tulare county and vice chairman of the Valley Development board of directors, stated that the Springville site is the most likely candidate for the center because the buildings are already standing. Job Corps policy, he said, generally adheres to improving existing facilities rather than building new ones.

Funds for the project are available, he said, having already been allocated for Job Corps centers in Tennessee and West Virginia which were never developed.

The Valley Development representatives will ask for a three-year, nine million dollar contract, Scott said. If the funds are obtained and an agreement is reached with Tulare county officials, the program could get underway as early as this summer, he added.

Valley Development would then act as sub-contractors in obtaining whatever facilities and equipment are required from other private industries. Training programs would be mostly for underprivileged young people in the 16 to 19 age group who desire a vocational education. This would include technical training in agricultural machinery repair and maintenance, as well as dental assistance, nursing, rehabilitation, x-ray technicianry, and whatever other skills students might request.

The concept of a Job Corps center in the valley has received favorable support from legislators in Sacramento. A joint resolution passed by the Senate and Assembly endorsing the program will be forwarded to Congress and President Nixon for approval.

In addition, William Blatche of Human Resources Development in Sacramento and Lewis Uhler, deputy director of the Human Relations agency have given their endorsement to the proposal.

Uhler, said Scott, makes recommendations to Governor Reagan for all federal grant projects in California, and has actively participated in securing a Job Corps center in the valley, to be used as a model program.

If established in Springville, said Scott, the center would employ approximately 100 persons locally, would train 300 young people every seven or eight months, and would maintain an emergency out-patient clinic for area

UNIFICATION MEETING SET

Unification of Porterville Union high and Strathmore Union high school districts will be discussed Tuesday, April 25 at 7:30 p.m. in a meeting open to the general public at PHS cafeteria. The school unification plan which will appear on the June 6 ballot - also involves the elementary districts of Alta Vista, Burton, Citrus South Tule, Ducor, Hope, Hot Springs, Pleasant View, Porterville, Rockford, Saucelito, Springville Union, Terra Bella Union, Strathmore Union, and Sunnyside Union.

A CROWD of 15,000 persons - some estimates were even higher - jammed the Porterville Municipal airport and adjacent roads, Saturday, to watch the U.S. Navy's Blue Angels perform their precision flying routines, with the show also including exhibition flying by Howard

Keefe, from Southern California, in a P-51; aerobatics by Gerald Massey, of Delano, in his Myer Special, "Li'l Toot;" exhibition flights by Don Tyrrell and Pat Tomlinson in their replica of a World War I Sopwith Pup; and exhibition jumps by the Navy's Leapfrogs. Tribune camera catches some of the action - the Leapfrogs getting ready and jumping; the Blue Angels on the ground and in the air; Li'l Toot trailing smoke; and the Sopwith Pup; Ed Wood, president of the Porterville Area Pilots association with Lt. Gary Smith, one of the Blue Angel pilots; and a shot of some of the crowd that watched the show.

Editorial Comment

A JOB WELL DONE

Another example of Porterville in action - the somewhat hastily staged air show, Saturday, at the Porterville Municipal airport, featuring the world famous Blue Angels.

We say "hastily staged" because members of the Porterville Area Pilots' association had only about one month to set up the show when they learned that the Blue Angels were available.

But in typical Porterville fashion, they jumped in, committed the association for some $5,000, enlisted and received fine cooperation from the Porterville chamber of commerce and the Navy League, lined up supporting air talent, and produced an excellent show that drew at least 15,000 people.

And typical Porterville hospitality was extended to the visiting Navy personnel through sidelight social events.

All-in-all last Saturday's air show represented a job well done and our congratulations go to members of the Pilots' association, to chamber of commerce directors, and to Navy League members who proved again that Porterville folks can accomplish just about anything they set their minds to.

Springville Chamber of Commerce President Dick Coon, is currently serving as a temporary advisory board member for the Job Corps. The Corps would maintain an advisory board using county residents, said Scott, to keep abreast of what job fields need filling.

The 54-year-old professional forester has directed CDF operations in the local 13-county San Joaquin valley area since 1962.

In an emergency, the fastest way to get help is to dial the police, fire department, or doctor, yourself. That's why we've left blank spaces in the front of your phone book, where you can fill in these important numbers. Having them in a convenient place may come in very handy if you ever need them in a hurry. If for some reason you can't dial the number yourself, just dial Operator, who'll be glad to help.

The Invest-in-America Council reminds you: "Your savings and investments mean money at work. For a stronger economy, invest in America."

A phone left off the hook—either accidentally or on purpose—can keep you from getting an emergency call, an important message, or other calls you really wouldn't want to miss. Remember, your telephone is like a second door to your house. So keep this door open. Make sure your receiver is always properly placed in the cradle.

Miss Thomas, a senior at Monache high school, currently holds the title of Miss Porterville. The contestant chosen Miss Tulare county will be eligible to take part in the Miss California Pageant scheduled for June in Santa Cruz.

COUNTY-WIDE QUARANTINE TO BE ENACTED

VISALIA — Tulare county will soon be quarantined for Comstock mealybug control according to Elvin Mankins, county agricultural commissioner.

Porterville and Lindsay will be listed specifically as infested areas in the quarantine, said Mankins. Citrus crops and pomegranates will be most affected by the quarantine, said Mankins, with treatment of all fruits to be required before shipments can be certified.

Action by both county and state officials will include chemical and biological controls in addition to the quarantine. Full details of the quarantine will be announced within the next few days, Mankins said.

Cattle Sale Is "Most Successful" Says Jack Shannon

TERRA BELLA — "Most successful" was the appraisal of the recent feeder cattle sale conducted by the Stockmans' Market in Visalia under sponsorship of the Cattlemen's associations of Tulare, Kern and Fresno counties, with 3,178 head of consigned cattle bringing $649,010 — a record both head-wise and dollar-wise for the Visalia yard.

"After checking out results, we feel this sale accomplished what it was set up to do — provide a market place for both cattlemen who wanted to buy fresh green cattle and calves off grass, and those who had this kind of cattle to sell," says Jack Shannon, of Terra Bella, sale chairman and president of the Tulare County Cattlemen's association.

The sale was the first of its kind in the area and on the strength of its initial success, Shannon says it may well be scheduled on a permanent basis in the future.
